In keeping with City Center’s founding mission of accessibility, all tickets for Fall for Dance are $30 (fees included). Tickets go on sale on Sunday, August 25 at 11am.

“For more than 20 years, Fall for Dance has brought important dance artists from across the globe to our New York audience,” said Stanford Makishi, VP & Artistic Director, Dance. “This year’s festival continues to be a major platform for international talent with performances by National Ballet of Ukraine, Montreal’s ANNE PLAMONDON PRODUCTIONS, CNN/Aterballetto from Italy, Dutch National Ballet, and Gandini Juggling from the UK. And Festival debuts include the homegrown Complexions Contemporary Ballet, M.A.D.D. Rhythms from Chicago, and kNonym Artist—Roderick George.”

He continued, “This year’s three commissioned works amplify newer choreographic voices from the ballet world. Vail Dance Festival, American Ballet Theatre's Aran Bell performs a solo by renowned ballerina Tiler Peck."

Free pre-show dance lessons will be held in the Grand Tier lobby one hour before the second performance of each program, offering ticketholders (for that performance) an opportunity to meet and mingle, and learn a few steps from artists. Tia Powell-Harris, VP, Education & Community Engagement, said, "What the dance programming team has assembled for our pre-show lessons is truly astounding, especially given the caliber of the teachers, which include major dance stars and artistic directors. These lessons enrich the theater-going experience and are an important part of the overall education and community engagement work that we do at City Center."
